

Circular, 1876

Bell's Physiological Alphabet, KNOWN AS “Visible Speech” for which an award has been granted by the Commissioners of the International Exhibition of 1876.

The following are the Physiological Symbols for the English elements of Speech.

CONSONANTS.

[???] p in pea.

[???] b in bay.

[???] m in some.

[???] f in fine.

[???] v in vie.

[???] wh in whey.

[???] w in way.

[???] t in tea.

[???] d in day.

[???] n in son.

[???] th in thigh.

[???] th in thy.

Library of Congress

[???] s in hiss.

[???] s in his.

[???] k in key.

[???] g in gay.

[???] ng in sung.

[???] l in cloud.

[???] l in loud.

[???] sh in rush.

[???] ge in rouge.

[???] r in train.

[???] r in rain.

[???] h in hue.

[???] y in you.

[???] h in hop.

. . . .

. . . .

VOWELS.

Library of Congress

[???] ee in eel.

[???] oo in pool.

[???] a in father.

[???] i in ill.

[???] u in pull.

[???] a in ask.

[???] e in shell.

[???] a in all.

[???] u in curl.

[???] a in shall.

[???] o in doll.

[???] u in dull.

GLIDES.

[???] w as in now.

[???] r as in sir.

[???] y as in may.

[???] a as in near.

DIPHTHONGS.

[???] i in mine.

[???] a in mane.

[???] ow in now.

[???] ow in know.

[???] oy in boy.

Illustration of the Physiological Alphabet.

The commissioners of the International Exhibition of 1876 have granted an award for the Physiological Alphabet devised by Professor Melville Bell, of Brantford, Ontario.

James P. Burbank, Printer, Salem, Mass.

Bratan Schul

JAMES P. BURBANK, SALEM, MASS., PUBLISHER OF THE VISIBLE SPEECH CHARTS, AND AGENT FOR THE Work of Prof. A. Melville Bell, ON VISIBLE SPEECH, AND OTHER SUBJECTS. Send stamp for descriptive price list.